

Episode # 27 Pivot Path: Mark McCrindle

Mark is an award-winning social researcher, demographer, best-selling author and influential thought leader.

We took a journey with Mark on what sort of pivots have been prominent as a result of Covid. This “bright spot” episode, highlights how the world has been managing 2020 and 2021 as a result of a major pivot that has shifted our whole lives.

Mark fills us with optimism for the future and how in fact Covid, for some, has provided the conduit for positive change.

Top Tips

1. Build flourishing activities and sustainable rhythms into your life that can enable you to have impacts for the long term.

2. Future-proof your career and influence by observing changes to your sector and upskilling and retraining accordingly.

3. Build the capacity of your team or community by offering encouragement, guidance and help to enable them to be resilient amidst this new reality of volatility.
